HISTORIC FACTS

Springfield was originally settled in 1636 and incorporated as a town in 1641. William Pynchon was the leader of this group of early settlers who came from Roxbury, Mass. Springfield was named after Pynchon's birthplace in England and in 1852 it became a city. The land was used primarily for agriculture but early in the 18th century the power of the Connecticut River brought about the erection of many mills. Saw and grist mills were the first to appear and large clay deposits in the area were used to manufacture bricks. Financial depression followed the Revolutionary War, placing farmers and mill owners in a difficult financial plight.

Daniel Shays became the hero of these stricken people in attempting to prevent judgments against them for debt. It was at Springfield that Shays met his Waterloo when he tried to capture the United States Arsenal. In 1794, the government established an armory in Springfield, thus creating a rise in the metal-goods industry. In 1835 the advent of the railroad stimulated business and the town had 73 machine shops, 6 cotton mills, 4 printing offices, 13 warehouses, 1 rifle factory, 2 card factories, 2 forges, 1 powder mill, 6 saw mills, 4 grist mills, 3 tanneries, 2 jewelers' tool factories, 1 sword factory and 1 spool factory. John Brown, a leader of the Abolitionist movement, lived in Springfield for two years. During this time he harbored hundreds of runaway slaves and passed them along to the next station of the Underground Railway. After the Civil War, labor began to organize and strong unions were created. Since 1890, large industries such as the Van Norman Co., Monsanto, and the Milton Bradley Co. have operated in the city.

SPRINGFIELD FIRSTS

The FIRST successful commercially-sold automobile was constructed in the United States in 1892-'93 by the Duryea brothers.

The FIRST railroad sleeping car made in the U. S. was built for George Pullman by T. W. Wason & Co. in Springfield in 1850.

The FIRST U. S. Musket (Model 1795) was made in the Springfield Armory in 1795. The Springfield (1903) and Garand (1937) rifles originated here. The Organ of Rifles made famous by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow's poem, "The Arsenal at Springfield" is displayed at the Springfield Armory Museum.

A number of FIRSTS were achieved in the field of education -- adult education (1851), general science-music appreciation course (1896-1905), YMCA college training (1880) and agricultural extension course (1913).

The Seymour Planetarium, FIRST projection planetarium constructed in the United States, was devised and constructed by former Director of the Museum, Frank Korkosz.

Basketball was invented here in 1891 by Dr. James Naismith.

Friction matches were patented in Springfield by Alonzo D. Phillips in 1836.

The FIRST U. S. Government postal cards were manufactured here in 1873.

The meat-packing industry was started in Springfield in the 17th century by John, son of the City's founder, William Pynchon.

The FIRST retail sales of frozen foods were made in Springfield in 1930.

The FIRST Junior Achievement program (started here in 1919 by Horace A. Moses) teaches high school youth the American free enterprise system.

The FIRST dog show in the U. S. was held in Springfield on April 28 and 29, 1875.

BUSINESS AND INDUSTRY

The most outstanding characteristic of Metropolitan Springfield's industrial growth for more than 150 years has been diversification. Its manufacturers produce a wide variety of goods, and no one industry plays a dominant role in the economic fortunes of the community. World famous industrial names native to Greater Springfield include: Milton Bradley, United States Envelope, American Bosch, A. G. Spalding, Smith & Wesson, Monsanto, Buxton, John H. Breck, Moore Drop Forging, Absorbine Jr., and Strathmore Paper.

UNITED STATES ENVELOPE CO.'S OFFICE BUILDING, PART OF A 265,000 SQUARE–FOOT HEADQUARTERS–PRODUCTION COMPLEX IN MEMORIAL INDUSTRIAL PARK, IS AN EXAMPLE OF THE MODERN INDUSTRIAL FACILITIES WHICH ABOUND IN SPRINGFIELD

A 600-acre industrial park complex--Springfield Expressway Manufacturing Center--is the city's prime area for plant construction by manufacturing and distribution oriented companies. Containing millions of dollars worth of modern structures and employing thousands of persons, the Center is ideally situated within sight of both the east-west directed Interstate 90 (Massachusetts Turnpike) and Route 291, six-mile-long high-speed connector to the north-south Interstate 91. Through these highways, Springfield has reclaimed its title of generations ago "Crossroads of New England."

SPRINGFIELD'S FAMOUS 75 STORE EASTFIELD MALL, OFFERING COMPLETE INDOOR, CLIMATE–CONTROLLED SHOPPING YEAR-ROUND IS THE LARGEST INDIVIDUAL DEVELOPMENT AMONG THE AREA'S 30 OUTSTANDING RETAIL CENTERS. ALL SHARE IN A GROWING MARKETING AREA ESTIMATED TO CONTAIN IN EXCESS OF 700,000 PERSONS

Retail and wholesale trade prospers from the fast, efficient highway system. A total of 200 motor carrier firms are located in the area, and hundreds of distributors--many in newly-constructed facilities--are clustered near all highway access points. Retailers continue to increase in numbers, with the Baystate West shopping complex in downtown Springfield (opened late 1971) providing the most recent major increase in retailing space for the area. The addition of its 45 stores to an already sizable Main Street shopping district, has pushed downtown Springfield to the indisputable lead as Western Massachusetts' largest retailing center.

FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS

The financial needs of the individual citizen and the numerous new and expanding businesses in Springfield, are met by a total of six commercial banks, five savings banks, two savings and loan associations, and one cooperative bank. Strong cooperation between the community's financial institutions and its development organizations has led to many million dollars worth of new facilities in recent years.

Farm Credit Banks of Springfield is northeast headquarters for the Federal Farm Credit System covering New England, New York and New Jersey. Comprising the Federal Land Bank of Springfield, the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Springfield, and the Springfield Bank for Cooperatives, it serves the credit needs of northeast farmers and their cooperatives. Shown above is artist's rendering of New Agawam facility.

The insurance industry also plays a major role in Springfield's financial life. Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Co. (shown above), with total assets of approximately $5.4 billion, is the 10th largest life insurance company in the United States and Canada, and provides protection to nearly two million individual policy-holders and group certificate holders. The company, founded in 1851, employs approximately 2300 persons at its home office, from which it manages a network of coast-to-coast offices.

Also home-based in Springfield is Monarch Life Insurance Co., ranking third in the nation in non-cancellable health insurance and in the top eight per cent in life insurance. Other corporations in the Monarch organization include the parent company, Monarch Capital Corp., Springfield Life Insurance Co., and Monarch Securities, all contributing to a healthy rate of growth for the firm.

EDUCATION

Registering several "firsts" over the years, education in Springfield has long been recognized as one of the community's strongest assets. Although Massachusetts is recognized as the leader in public school education, Springfield has often been ahead of the state in new programs. It was the first city in the state to appoint a professional superintendent of schools. That was in 1840 when Horace Mann was heading the state's educational system. Springfield also pioneered in kindergartens (assisted by Milton Bradley who published the first kindergarten guide printed in the English language) and in specialized high schools for mechanical and technical subjects. Springfield continues to pioneer new educational systems, the latest being the "open campus" program in which the resources of the area's museums, libraries, hospitals, industries, business houses, municipal facilities, and other institutions become classrooms for students enrolled in this special program.

Babson Library — Springfield College

The five colleges located in Greater Springfield have a combined enrollment exceeding 12,000 students. American International, Springfield, and Western New England Colleges offer a broad spectrum of graduate and undergraduate programs in many liberal arts, business, and technical fields. Bay Path Junior College offers its female student body programs in a wide variety of careers. Springfield Technical Community College, part of the state educational system, is unique in all of Massachusetts. Growing quickly toward its goal of 5,000 students at its large campus on former Springfield Armory grounds, STCC offers training in more than 30 occupations. For Greater Springfield industries, businesses, and health institutions, STCC is a valuable source of skilled workers prepared to fill even the most advanced and futuristic jobs in the community.

THE MACDUFFIE SCHOOL

Since 1890 The MacDuffie School has been proud to serve girls in the greater Springfield area - Longmeadow, W. Springfield, Agawam, East Longmeadow, Hampden, Ludlow, Wilbraham, Westfield, Holyoke.

MacDuffie is a college preparatory boarding and day school for girls in Grades 7 through 12.

HEALTH SERVICES

Multi-million-dollar expansions have been completed by all of Springfield's outstanding hospitals. Largest is Medical Center of Western Massachusetts. Other major hospitals are Wesson Memorial Hospital, Mercy Hospital, and Springfield Municipal Hospital, a city-owned geriatric care facility.

Latest hospital to undergo major expansion was Mercy Hospital, constructing an $18 million facility completed late 1974.

Unique among Springfield's medical facilities is the highly specialized Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children, one of several medical facilities operated by the Shrine in the U. S., Canada, and Mexico. This 55-bed facility caters to the special orthopedic needs of children up to 15 years of age.

The Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children, Springfield.

RELIGION

More than 150 churches and synagogues serve Greater Springfield and are among the area's most impressive buildings. Springfield is a diocesan city for both the Roman Catholic and Episcopal Churches. The city's oldest church, Old First Church (First Church of Christ, Congregational), is a state-registered historical monument.

Old First Church on Court Square stands on the site of the original meeting house built in 1645. The present chapel, designed after the manner of Christopher Wren, was built by Isaac Damon in 1819.

Beth El Temple, modern in architecture is among the most beautiful of Springfield's religious buildings.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

We are most happy to have been able to provide this space in the city directory as part of a program to tell Springfield's story to industrial and financial leaders across the country.

We wish to acknowledge the hard work of the GREATER SPRINGFIELD CHAMBER OF COMMERCE who compiled the editorial and pictorial material for this section as part of their action program for the economic development of greater Springfield.

We also thank those advertisers whose support of this special commercial development effort is one more example of their commitment to a progressive community.
